

5. A) Analyse the discourse of the passage and answer the questions on it :

Ladies and gentlemen, I am going to speak about Chickungunya, a strange and complex disease which has been tormenting people of many Indian states. It is a viral disease which is spread by Aedes aegypti mosquitoes. This is not connected with the bird flu.

Symptoms of Chickungunya include fever, severe arthritis, swelling of joints and body pain. Aedes aegypti is a daybiter. They breed in stagnant water which is collected for more than a week.

All of you are required to take some precautions to avoid breeding of the mosquitoes and the spreading of diseases. You should not allow water to be stagnant for more than a week in any type of container. As the Aedes aegypti mosquitoes are day-biters, you must use mosquito nets / repellents while sleeping during day time.

- a) What is the mode of the passage ? Give examples. 2
- b) What is the relationship between the addresser and the addressee ? How is it characterised by the features of formal and personal tenor ? 3
- c) Is the domain of the passage advertising, public speaking or journalistic writing ? Justify. 2
- d) Are the sentence structures simple or complex ? How are these sentence structures typical of the domain ? 2
- e) How does the language used in the passage fulfil the predominant macro - function ? Justify with examples. 3
- f) Mention at least two micro functions that are realized in this passage. Give examples. 3

OR

B) Analyse the following passage by answering the questions given below :

- Principal : Good morning, Geetha. What can I do for you ?
- Geetha : Good morning, madam. Please sign my application for a bus pass.
- Principal : Leave it in the office, I'll sign it later.
- Geetha : Ma'am, today is the last date for submission.